Sharona H. Sternberg and George J. Jakobsche have been made partners at Sunstein.

Ms. Sternberg will continue to concentrate in intellectual property litigation and trademark clearance, registration and enforcement. She has been involved in numerous patent, trademark, and trade secret litigations in federal court, including a successful jury trial involving medical device patents. She has also represented multiple clients in opposition and cancellation proceedings before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board. Her clients have included well-known pharmaceutical, software, medical device, and international e-commerce companies.

Sharona has a B.A. English, summa cum laude from Barnard College and a J.D. from Harvard Law School.

Mr. Jakobsche will continue to focus on patent prosecution. His extensive experience as a software engineer, in-house patent counsel and private practice patent attorney gives him a unique set of technical, legal and business skills and insights to counsel clients on intellectual property issues and to propose business-savvy solutions. His practice includes preparing patent applications, formulating IP strategies and counseling clients on matters involving IP rights of others, such as defending against asserted claims, designing around competitors' patents and freedom-to-operate studies.

George has a B.S. from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and a J.D. cum laude from Suffolk University Law School.

SUNSTEIN has an outstanding record of important wins for our technology and life sciences clients through litigation, patent prosecution, IP portfolio development and business transactions.
